(5) Provide additional background information/justification/basis of computation.

During its start-up period, Dial-A-Route averaged approximately 900 calls per month. Over its first two years, this number increased to approximately 2,000 calls per month. Since July 1994 when the new VISTA transit services were initiated, the number of calls to the Dial-A-Route program has increased significantly. The program currently receives approximately 3,500 calls per month and also provides information and applications for the Commission's Guaranteed Ride Home Program. This service has proven to be valuable to the early success of the VISTA transit program. The increased number of calls has led to a corresponding increase in the cost of providing this service. Therefore, it will be difficult to continue Dial-A-Route without supplemental funding.
